T.B. Test Cure Giving New Health Hope To Uplander, 10 Other Disease Victims

LYNN GRAHAME IS IMPROVED DUE TO NEW TREATMENT

Tuberculosis, the dread disease that annually claims thousands of persons, may be conquered.

At least, 11 persons who for years have suffered aggravated attacks of the strength-sapping disease, are making miraculous recoveries in San Bernardino county's widely-watched experiment in human rehabilitation.

Most of the nine men and two women in a hillside rest home at Mentone were hopeless victims of the disease in April, and at least one of them had expected to be dead by now. Rather than being dead, however, that man is among the most active of the convalescent group and he wears a deputy sheriff's badge as a mark of his strength and ability.

UPLANDER IN GROUP

Lynn Grahame, a resident of Upland for many years, is among those in the "experiment" who for the "first time in 10 years is seeing the first ray of hope for new health." He expects to be discharged soon, the disease being "Cured—not just arrested."

"Then I will be able to go back to my home and family and get to work again," he declared with emotion and fervor as an Upland News representative visited with him Wednesday afternoon in the shade of the trees and restful surroundings of the secluded institution.

"There's only a trace of T. B. germs now—while last April when we came here my system was full of them," he continued—and then with emphasis he added: "And once we are cured this way, we are cured for good—it's not the end-

Hospital Nursery Is Full of Girls; Twins Help Total

Four girls, two of them being twins, were born at the San Antonio Community hospital within a four-hour period this morning—and the nursery population was increased to 10, all being girls except two.

Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hodge, 650 Nocta street, Ontario. The first little miss arrived at 1:20 a. m., and the sister's arrival was clocked at 1:25 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vedarde, Chino, and Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Conley, 510 Plaza Serena, Ontario, are also parents of daughters, being born within a short time after the twins arrived.

Perhaps there have been more babies at one time in the hospital nursery, but attendants could not recall a time when the girls had been favored by Old Man Stork with such a large majority.

Other arrivals during the week at the hospital follow:

A daughter for Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Monday, 726 Nocta street, Ontario, Aug. 31; a son for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deal, 2373 East Second street, LaVerne, August 31, and a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Felix Castellini, Fontana.

Charles D. Adams Is Critically Ill

Charles D. Adams, who will be 97 years of age next month, is critically ill, according to word received today by Mrs. Rose King, his former housekeeper. Mr. Adams, credited with naming Upland, is receiving attention at the Rosemead sanitarium.

Due to his advanced age and general physical condition, much concern is being shown in the "turn for the worse," Mrs. King said.

CONCERN FELT FOR TRAVELERS ABROAD

Three Local Residents in Europe—Miss Mabel Stanford Returning

Three residents of this section are abroad, or returning from abroad, according to latest word that could be obtained.

Mrs. George Brown, who lives at the Upland Inn, was to sail from England on the S. S. Duchess of Athol of the Canadian Pacific line on September 8, according to her itinerary when she left Upland on June 21 for a four-months' trip abroad.

After a cruise to the Scandinavian countries, she was to travel in Ireland, England and Scotland. At present if she were unable to advance her sailing date, she would be touring in northern England. She had originally intended to visit in Vancouver and Victoria before returning to Upland on October 15.

Miss Mabel Stanford, journalism instructor at Chaffey junior college, is probably somewhere on the Atlantic, according to a cablegram received by a friend. She had originally intended to sail today from Glasgow, but was able to obtain an earlier sailing on August 26 on the S. S. The American Importer, which is to dock at Boston after a ten-day crossing. A letter was received here from her mailed in Stockholm on August 16.

Miss Marie Von Kanel, English teacher at Fontana junior high school, was in Geneva, Switzerland, on August 20, judging by a letter received at the Chaffey office today. Whether she was on her way now or not, could not be learned. Miss Von Kanel is a leader of the Christian Endeavor in the Upland Presbyterian church.

Schools Will Get $2,137,609 From State During Year

Sum of $2,137,609.07 will be received from the state by the county for assistance in maintaining the schools during 1939-40.

Of this sum, the elementary schools will get $1,220,350.96, the high schools $759,538.11 and the junior colleges $157,720, according to a report today from Walter F. Dexter, state superintendent of public instruction.

Allocation to the various schools will be based on the average daily attendance of the past year.

There are only two junior colleges in the county—Chaffey and San Bernardino, and the $157,720 allotment will be divided between them.

Cooperative Plan Among Reliefers To Be Tried in County

Gov. Culbert L. Olson's plan of establishing cooperative production projects will include this county. Scene of three projects will be near San Bernardino and Redlands.

The projects will be concerned with the production of food for distribution to persons on the SRA rolls. Under a sponsorship of the county, relief workers may till county-owned land.

Did you get your albacore while the run was on? If not, chances are rather slim for getting one this season as the skipjack have made their appearance off the coast and these fish are such heavy feeders—being always hungry—that they clean the small fish out of the waters and the albacore leave for parts unknown to hunt their meals. The skipjack looks something like a bonita only the stripes run lengthwise of its body instead of around, as in the bonita.

Pickets To Be Outside of Building While Friends Inside

San Bernardino civic auditorium—outside and inside—will be the scene tonight of a warm homecoming reception for Congressman and Mrs. Harry R. Sheppard.

The Workers Alliance members are reported to be planning to picket the building as a protest demonstration against Congressman Sheppard"s failure to support the wages and hours law recently before the legislators. He voted against the measure, which was defeated by Congress.

Inside the building, however, hundreds of friends and supporters of the official will be on hand to hear Mr. Sheppard's' resume of his legislative acts and a general report on his work in Washington, D. C.

Florence Armstrong Ill on Arrival Here From Oriental Tour

The Misses Lois Kent, Florence Armstrong, Esther Anderson and Vesta Newson are back in Upland today after a summer voyage across the Pacific ocean to the Oriental countries.

Five weeks ago, however, Miss Armstrong suffered an attack of what is believed to be some type of tropical fever. She is confined to her home.

The four popular teachers returned Wednesday. In Shanghai they observed the ruins of the Sino-Japanese war.

Satisfactory Price On Lemons Reported

Lemon prices have been maintaining a consistently satisfactory level for the past few weeks, a review of the market shows. Top prices have been running from $5 to $5.50 per box in eastern markets.

Valencia prices have also been holding up better.

Miss Armstrong is principal of the Eighteenth Street school.

UPLANDERS VIEW WAR THREAT AS IT CONCERNS NATION

Possibility of U. S. Being Drawn Into European Conflict Cited

Will America get into the new "World War" as it did in the one starting in 1914?

That question is today uppermost in the minds of many people—parents of men of war age—and the prospective soldiers themselves.

Radio broadcasts from Europe, Washington, D. C., adn other parts of the globe were closely followed throughout the day.

While European nations are fighting, while cities are being bombed and while feverish war spirit is gripping everyone, Uplanders today expressed themselves on the question: "Will American be drawn into the conflict?"

Merle Rash, former adjutant of the Upland post of the American Legion, declared: "If it is stopped before long we may not get into it; but if it is prolonged, this country is likely to get into the war."

E. C. Mehl, chief of police, predicted that propaganda to influence America to get into the war will be spread around by certain interests.

SELFISH FIGHT

"The countries are fighting for what they want—not to save Democracy—and for that reason I don't see why this country should be drawn into it," declared Elwood Hartzog, a likely candidate for the United States army. "Just

War Developments

Premier Mussolini of Italy has issued a proclamation expressing that country's intention to remain neutral in the current European crisis.

Both French and British spokesmen have issued ultimatums to Hitler advising him to cease hostilities or the united efforts of the two nations would be immediately centered on Poland's side.

These are among the latest developments in Europe as received here this afternoon by radio.

No major battles have occurred, according to radio reports, although some fighting has occurred along the Polish border. Danzig has been "taken over" by German troops, the reports state.

Air raid alarms were sounded in Berlin.

While some minor skirmishes have occurred and nations are being placed on a war footing, negotiations looking to peaceful settlement of the differences are continuing in London, with German and British officials discussing the situation, it is reported.

NOTED SCULPTOR LOCATES HERE; TO TEACH AT SCRIPPS

Albert Stewart, Who Designed N. Y. Fair Masterpiece, Is Uplander Now

Albert Stewart, nationally known sculptor, who will teach at Scripps college this coming year, with his wife and two young daughters and a son, are now making their home in Upland at Nineteenth street and Mountain avenue.

Two of the most recent sculpturings done by Mr. Stewart have attracted widespread attention. One is the statue on the administration building at the New York World's fair, depicting a figure of a woman done in relief, 27 feet high, rising above the city's skyscrapers. The other is the figure of Lincoln, placed in the Labor building in Washington, D. C.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

An impressive list of public buildings, private gardens and other architectural structures, tells of the accomplishments of this artist, who was born in Kensington, England, in 1900.

Sculpturing was done by the new Upland resident on such public projects as Seaman's Memorial Jeanette Park, New York City; Buffalo, N. Y., city hall, St. Paul city hall, doors of St. Bartholomews' church, New York City; "Eagle," American Battlefield, Thiacourt, France; San Francisco mint, Minela court house, Long Island, N. Y., and "Hawk" in Metropolitan Museum of Art.

GARDEN ART FAVORED

While public buildings have occupied a large share of Mr. Stewart's time in the past 10 years, he considers garden sculpture his biggest field.

Many of the large estates in the east contain figures done by Mr. Stewart. Art for gardens, however, he feels should not be confined to the fabulously rich.

"If home owners would be willing to accept figures that are done in limited editions, they could obtain garden figures for several hundred dollars," he says. A figure of a deer which Mr. Stewart has reproduced for terrace gardens illustrates his point.

A glance at Mr. Stewart's work shows that he does not belong to the modernistic school, where distorted figures leave one speculating on the subject. Such exaggerated modernistic art is an attempt on the part of the artist to attract attention, or to break away from too-strict conventions, Mr. Stewart believes.

STARTED EARLY

"Modern Crucifixion" is the title of a figure of a man, illustrating the futility and suffering of war, done by Mr. Stewart. "Anti-war" figures are seldom bought", commented Mr. Stewart—who at the age of 16 enlisted in the British army to serve in the World war. He plans to start work soon on another anti-war piece, depicting a woman and children.

A self-made artist, Mr. Stewart was making his own living, work

What Tax Rates Mean In $, ¢ To Property Owners

When tax charges are figured in dollars and cents instead of tax rates, perhaps property owners can determine just what various increases and decreases in governmental outlay actually mean.

For example, there is a certain piece of property here assessed at $4,410. That property will be charged $207.71 for taxes, since the total rate for city, school and county is $4.71.

The city's rate is five cents lower this year than last year. That five cent reduction means a saving of $2,20 to the specified property. On the other hand, Upland is in a flood control district, the tax in which is 10 cents. In other words, it costs the owner of this property $4.40 as his share in financing the flood control project.

Cost of operating the elementary schools in Upland requires a tax rate of 62 cents—or an actual cost on this parcel of property of $26.54. Elementary school bonds are outstanding—for the junior high school and new elementary building—and the bond rate is 33 cents. These outstanding bonds actually cost the local property $14.55.

To provide money for relief purposes, the county supervisors had to include $1.12.

Of the total county rate, $1.12 on each $100 valuation goes for relief purposes. The $4,410 property, therefore, contributed in its tax payment $49.39 toward the fund from which is paid relief checks.

For actual operation of the county government, the property pays $18.96.

If the 1939-40 total rate had been the same as last year the tax bill on the property mentioned would be $196.68.

Miss Grace Warner, formerly of Wooster, Ohio, but in recent years residing in Washington, D C., is a guest of her cousin, Mrs. S. G. Moore, 525 North Euclid avenue. Miss Warner expects to remain here for several months and Mrs. Moore's friends are looking forward to having the pleasure of greeting her.

PAGEANT WILL BE CUCAMONGA EVENT

Community's History To Be Theme in Program on Sept. 9 and 10

About 200 years ago Cucamonga was first settled and its colorful, romantic history will be the theme of special features of the two-day grape festival next week end.

In the "Pageant of Grapes", Judge James Sharp, a close student of Southern California history, will present outstanding incidents dealing with Cucamonga's colorful past. This pageant will be presented on the large outdoor platform being erected on Archibald avenue just north of Foothill boulevard.

In formal ceremonies at 2 p. m. Sept. 9, the two-day program will start. Many entertainment features are being planned each day and evening, with the program to come to a climax in the "Pageant of Grapes" at 7 p. m., Sept. 10.

Free grapes will be offered the visitors throughout the two days and many of the wineries in the district will also hold "open house".

Approximately $1,200 has been raised by the Cucamonga civic leaders to finance an extensive publicity program, to decorate the community and to bring outstanding talent for the entertainment program.

Fred Draper Assumes Chamber Presidency As New Year Starts

Fred E. Draper today became president of the Upland chamber of commerce, this being the first day of the civic group's fiscal year. He was elected at a recent meeting of the chamber directors. Named as vice-president was Warren H. Wass, he too assuming his position today. Ellery F. Wright continues as secretary, and Mrs. Adelaide H. Plum as assistant secretary.

A community meeting is being planned but no definite arrangements have as yet been announced.

Serving on the board of directors with Mr. Draper and Mr. Wass are Harland P. Horak, treasurer; Everett W. Henry, Norman S. Lawson, Orton P. Brady, Frank Joines, Paul V. Snyder, Paul G. Hottel, Harold Musser, Ernest Tweed Stone and Vernon V. Paine.

INTERESTED WATER CO. OFFICIALS TO DISCUSS PROJECT

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard will be in Upland at 9 o'clock Saturday morning to discuss with local citizens the proposed flood control project in San Antonio canyon. An informal meeting will be held in the J. B. Draper & Co. chapel, First avenue and Ninth street, according to arrangements completed by C. E. Grier, chairman of the county board of supervisors.

Miss Ella Draper, secretary of a group of water companies, was advising many persons of the meeting and tentative arrangements are being made for the presence of many interested officials.

At Congressman Sheppard's recent order all work on plans for the huge dam and flood control channel in the canyon wash were dropped by U. S. army engineers. Whether work on the project will be resumed or whether changes will be made to conform with the desires of local property owners is not known.

Congressman Sheppard agreed to come to Upland and personally obtain the views of local residents as part of his program in deciding on the situation.

Mr. Grier conferred with Congressman Sheppard in San Bernardino this morning.

While the meeting is not closed to anyone, it was emphasized here this afternoon that the meeting place is large enough to accommodate only those persons directly affected.

School Opening Is Widely Awaited as Building Is Ready

With the Fannie D. Noe building almost removed from the scene, with the finishing touches being added to the new Upland elementary school building, and with other preparations being completed, start of school here on Sept. 18 is widely awaited.

Since the new school is one of the finest of its kind in Southern California and since many in the community have closely watched its construction for months, the school's dedicatory program Sept. 19 is expected to be an outstanding community event.

Dr. Merton E. Hill, first principal of the Fannie D. Noe school, who has become recognized as one of the state's outstanding educators, will be the principal speaker at the dedicatory program.

As to the start of school itself, classes will be conducted on the opening day in the usual manner—even though the new building will provide entirely new surroundings for the elementary students.

Enrollment is expected to be about the same in the elementary and junior high as last year.

Odd Fellows Hold Social Session at Hall Last Evening

Monthly social meeting of Euclid lodge No. 68, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held Tuesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall, was an enjoyable get-together event.

At 6:30 a contributed dish dinner was served, with G. A. Brest, Walter Fies and Harry Plum serving as the dinner committee.

A brief lodge session was held at 8 o'clock, Milo Washburn, noble grand, presiding. Only routine business was given attention, but some time was spent in hearing inspiring talks for the good of the order by several members.

At the conclusion of the lodge session the members retired to the club rooms, where the entertainment committee, including Erwin Koch, Houston Dewey and Herman Walker, was in charge. A number of games were played during the evening.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Here am I; send me.—Isaiah 6:8.

Announcement

A contract is now in effect by the terms of which Vernon V. Paine, who has been part owner and active in the management of The Upland News since the writer purchased the business some ten years ago, has taken over complete management of the enterprise and will become sole owner of the property. Therefore the vacation this News Guy has been enjoying the past four months will be permanent. During the summer months Mr. Paine has conducted the affairs of The News in a highly efficient manner and he has all the qualifications and experience necessary to insure a successful career for himself and to give the people of the Upland community the splendid newspaper it deserves. I was sure of this when I purchased The News and ten years of association with him have emphasized that fact. Not many restrictions were placed upon him by this News Guy and most of the splendid ideas which have been incorporated in the paper during the past few years have been his ideas. He is a hustler and has expended much effort in behalf of the city of Upland in addition to his work on The News. I feel he is deserving of the opportunity to become owner of this paper, which has shown much of his individuality since he became associated with it.

I would indeed seem ungrateful if I did not express in this column—which has been my "pet" during the ten years I have written it—the appreciation my family and I so sincerely feel. And by that I mean appreciation not only for our success in a business way but also for the many good and true friends we have made. The Guy family values both more highly than we can express in words.

While this News Guy has been fairly successful in the small town newspaper field it has not been because of any special ability, but the greatest factor, I feel, has been because I have always been able to pick helpers who were capable and willing workers in their various lines. And on no newspaper I have owned has this been more true than with The Upland News. Those who have been in the editorial and business departments have been a valuable asset to the paper and community, as have also those who have handled the mechanical end of the enterprise. Both branches of a newspaper are equally essential and require high class endeavor.

In this column through the years I have expressed my honest opinions—politically and otherwise. I have had many occasions to know that some readers of The News did not agree with me—and I did not expect all of them to do so. I have had not a few harsh criticisms—some of them by good friends, but now and then there have been expressions of approval. In the two most recent presidential campaigns feeling ran high and they were the most trying of any I have ever experienced as a writer along political lines. Many a sleepless night has this News Guy experienced because of bitter criticism—and such is true of all newspaper men, especially in the smaller communities where an editor is so intimately acquainted with many of his paper's readers. However, I feel there is something to be said in favor of the editor who has the backbone to express his opinions and believe readers have little respect for one who does not.

There is a lot of pleasure in conducting a newspaper—as well as a great deal of work and anxiety. Since my father took me into a small town newspaper office in Missouri to get me a job when a kid of thirteen years, I have been connected with the profession—from the proverbial printer's "devil" up through the ranks to owner and publisher. Many have been the changes and improvements in the small town newspaper since that day back in 1893. Then it was possible to get into the "game" with the expenditure of only a few hundred dollars—now a small town newspaper plant such as The News represents an investment of $20,000 to $30,000. There have been equally great changes and improvements in practically all lines of business—as well as in the mode of living. Many things we now consider necessities had not then been invented or dreamed of. And while I have attained no great degree of success it has been beyond what I dared hope for when thrown upon my own resources as a lad more than forty-five years ago. For this I am truly thankful—and am not forgetful or unappreciative of all who have contributed thereto.

Were I not convinced The Upland News will be in good hands I would not have turned it over to the young man who is now to guide its destinies and who—with his able assistants—will continue to give Upland the splendid paper it deserves, and expend his energies in the interest of the community. Mrs. Guy and I are continuing to make our home in Upland.

—H. M. Guy

The Associated Farmers

By Earl Marsh

More false propaganda is circulated about the Associated Farmers than any other non-partisan and non-sectarian organization of which I have ever heard. Contrary to public statements often made, the Associated Farmers are not opposed to laborers forming or joining any union nor are they opposed to collective bargaining in a lawful and orderly manner. In a recent address before the largest convention which meets in this state, they were accused of being a highly financed partisan group which attacked public officials on partisan lines. Both phases of this charge are utterly false.

The organization is strictly American in principle, its members believing in a free market where people can buy or sell according to the dictates of their best judgment; they believe in open public highways on which a farmer can operate his truck or haul his produce with the same safety which anyone expects in driving his private automobile, and that so long as a person is law abiding he may come or go, when and where he pleases.

The Associated Farmers are opposed to Communism. They are mindful of the principles of the Communist party. Communism does not permit of free speech regardless of the party's cry for it in America. Communists do not believe in God, do not permit churches or their teachings. Communists believe in the overthrow of government—by force and violence—and they are "boring-in" our government, our institutions and our organizations by the "infiltration" method.

The Farmers are mindful of the fact that there are more Communists in America today than there were in Russia when that country was overthrown by them. They are aware of the fact that Communists are stirring up "class hatred" and that Communists have been identified in all the strikes now on record, that schooled and paid organizers are getting fat from living on the blood and misery of the laboring class.

Records show that California farm labor receives the highest wage of all farm labor in America and yet we have more "organizing" by these organizers than any other state. Why? Records also show that the average farm worker received more actual cash than did the average farmer.

Under Communistic rule there can be no personal initiative and with that gone the standard of living soon skids to the very bottom.

The Farmers are further aware of the fact that workers who have found work have been required to pay certain "fees" to organizers to stay on the job and yet other workers who have paid dues month after month were not placed on a job. We are not sympathetic to those who do not pay a reasonable wage and yet we realize that business must survive in order to provide jobs.

Individuals, politicians and even Congressional committees have in the past, and still do, attack the Farmers for political propaganda, but the Farmers creed is, and always has been, to first find the facts and then attack fearlessly if the individual, big or small, is wrong; if he is right, support him regardless of his party.

People Next Door--

Lusk Family Happy Even Though Depression Dealt Heavy Blow

"People should be allowed to do what they're happiest doing," believes Mrs. V. B. Lusk, who with Mr. Lusk and their seventeen-year-old son Norman, live in one of the upstairs apartments at 279 North Second avenue.

The author of this piece of philosophy was finishing up a busy afternoon of canning peaches. Gleaming jars of golden fruit showed the results of a hard afternoon's work, but Mrs. Lusk, black hair curling around her face, smiled a friendly greeting as she tightened the lid on the last jar.

What she meant was that some women may be better bookkeepers than housekeepers. And if a woman is happier being a bookkeeper than a housekeeper, society should not criticize her for keeping books.

For six years the Lusk family has lived in one of the rear apartments here. With a west exposure, the apartment gets the benefit of the refreshing afternoon breeze.

"Oh, I would like to have a house and yard, but we are happy here," commented the housewife.

Old-timers here, Mr. and Mrs. Lusk have lived in Upland off and on for 33 years.

The depression dealt them a more severe blow than most people. Mr. Lusk, who is now employed by a citrus house, owned large acreage near Oceanside, and shipped carload lots of vegetables to eastern markets. Just when they thought that they were sitting on top of the world, conditions entirely out of their control wiped them out.

But what would embitter many people has not warped Mrs. Lusk's outlook on life.

"We're very lucky to have our health and our boy," says Mrs. Lusk. "Just a few months ago our boy narrowly missed serious injury when he fell from a truck."

A junior college students and a senior Boy Scout, Norman has made a good record.

Knitting and crocheting satisfy a creative urge for Mrs. Lusk, one surmises, when she tells of the pleasure which this work gives her.

T.B. Test Cure Giving New Health Hope To Uplander, 10 Other Disease Victims

less chain of having to come back and go all through it again."

Since 1930 he has spent much of his time in the county hospital.

CURE LITTLE KNOWN

Little is known by the general public of the "cure", but much more will be known about it before long if C. E. Grier, chairman of the county board of supervisors, has his way—and once he is convinced of the merits of a plan he determinedly works to see it realized.

When the "cure" enabled him last October to throw off a death sentence from the disease, Mr. Grier began to think of others who were suffering, of their families and of the county's huge expense in maintaining the T. B. sanitarium to which patients came, only to be discharged later without receiving any permanent help.

After months of deliberations and preparations, the county supervisors appropriated funds to permit 11 persons "hopelessly sick" with tuberculosis to undergo treatments.

TREATMENT EXPLAINED

What is the treatment? It's quite simple—three times a day the patients are thoroughly rubbed with an ointment, their noses and throats are sprayed with a disinfectant and they are given a tonic. After each treatment they rest for at least an hour. That's all there is to it.

"The whole idea is to clear our system of the germs," explained Mr. Grahame. "Of course, we don't know all the ingredients used in the various applications, but we do know that within three weeks after the test started, we felt better, our strength came back, our skins became more natural in color and we began to feel more normal."

The test treatments started on April 12 of this year. "There has been a gradual improvement all the time and now it is only a matter of time until I will be permanently cured, according to the reports from the doctors," Mr. Grahame declared.

RECORDS ARE KEPT

Each of the patients has a "story" about his or her case—and it is one of Mr. Grahame's duties to write a history of each case and make a record from time to time of progress and developments.

"Now, that man over there," said Mr. Grahame, as he pointed to one of the group. "He was so weak he could hardly talk when they brought him in on a bed. He told us he 'wouldn't be here long.' Well, he is here and look at him now."

Two of the group wear deputy sheriff badges—just to have some legal authority in case visitors should become too numerous. Another one of the group is the barber. One woman, ill with T. B. for 22 years, is showing remarkable recovery.

Mr. Grier visits the rest home at least twice a week. At the outset he was convinced of the results—that the treatments would cure T. B. victims. Now he is just waiting for another month or two until the patients will be cured. What changes will take place then Mr. Grier does not know.

The results, he is confident, "will speak for themselves."

IT'S CONVINCING

The Upland News observer judged the results of the treatment as he observed the patients at the rest home and listened to their stories and wholehearted declarations of what the treatment has meant to them.

While only 11 persons are involved in the current test, Mr. Grier pointed out that each case was a severe one, doctors having "given them up because nothing could be done for them". Mr. Grier also emphasized that the "cure" has been successful on many persons throughout the years as the obscure Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hurlbert worked among a small clientel.

Development of a cure for such a treacherous disease as tuberculosis would be regarded as one of the major contributions to mankind. Mrs. Hurlbert, now a San Bernardino resident, is credited with originating the formulas for the ointment, spray and tonic.

ON DEATH BED

Ill for many months, Mr. Grier, bedfast in October of last year, was told by his physician that he could never get well and that he would die before many months. Mrs. Grier had heard of the Hurlbert "cure" and she prevailed upon her husband to try it as a "last chance".

Mr. and Mrs. Hurlbert were called in and the treatments were started. Three weeks later Mr. Grier had recovered sufficient strength to be able to preside at a meeting of the county supervisors. Gradually, he resumed his normal vigorous activities. During the recent sessions of the state legislature Mr. Grier worked relentlessly on measures vital to the county and the state. (This is cited to emphasize that he was reported to be on his death bed last October).

Experiencing such a remarkable recovery from the disease, Mr. Grier took up the fight on behalf of the countless millions of persons who are affected by the strength-sapping and death-dealing malady. He is convinced the "cure" will revolutionize procedure in treating the victims and will be regarded as the greatest medical advancement of the age.

Mr. Grier has known the Hurlberts personally only since last October.

INTERESTED IN PEOPLE

"During that time I have learned to realize they are more interested in helping people than they are in making money," Mr. Grier explained. "I don't know about their 'set up' for making the formulas in large quantities, but they have assured me they will be able to supply any demand."

Mr. Grier was emphatic in declaring that the couple do not look upon possession of their formula as the means of getting a fortune.

Three persons from this district are among the group of 11 participating in the test. Besides Mr. Grahame are Claude Cowan, 427 East C street, and Joe Aguilar, Chino. Mr. Cowan, the father of five children, is a large, middle-aged man, who has been suffering with the disease for 10 years.

Mr. Aguilar, a former Chaffey student, resides in Chino.

The universe seems bankrupt as soon as we begin to discuss individuals. Our discourse all runs to slander and our limits grow narrower as we advance.—Thoreau.

Post Office Is Scene of Events Sometimes Funny

Amusing incidents sometimes occur at the parcel post window of the Upland post office, presided over by smiling Mrs. A. E. MacLaren.

Once a Mexican was mailing a package to Mexico.

"What is in the package?" asked Mrs. MacLaren.

"Bullets," replied the Mexican.

"But you cannot send bullets through the mail," was the reply.

"But they are just little bullets," the customer argued.

On another occasion another Mexican, who could not talk English, appeared at the window. All he could say was "El cajon."

Mrs. MacLaren surmised that he wanted to rent a post office box, so proceeded to make out the receipt. Then she informed him "that will cost you fifty cents."

The Mexican shot out of the door like a flash. Later he returned with an interpreter and explained that he had come to claim a parcel that was in the office for and was fined $100.

EXCHANGE LIST OF MEMBERS GAINING

2,000 Acre Increase During Year Reported to Directors of Group

Membership in the California Fruit Growers Exchange during the past year showed a net increase of more than 2,000 acres, the greatest increase being in lemons with the slight loss in grapefruit acreage offset by gains in oranges.

This information featured the annual membership report of Fred F. Heydenfeldt, Sunkist growers service manager. In his report to the Exchange board of directors he analyzed membership gains and losses, not only for each citrus variety, but for each of the 25 district exchanges.

Non-bearing citrus acreage acquired during the year by the Exchange totaled over 3300 acres. Nearly 90 per cent of this new acreage is in Valencias and lemons.

The loss in grapefruit membership was mainly due to withdrawal of a 2800 acre holding in Arizona and extensive tree-pulling operations in the El Centro area, reported Heydenfeldt.

$970 Suit Is Filed Against Cucamongan Over Dog Bite Issue

In a suit filed by William Palmer Elliott of Pomona, in the County Justice Court at San Bernardino, damages of $970 are asked against Dr. and Mrs. Afredo Ceraldi, well-known residents of the Cucamonga district. The complaint alleges that the Ceraldis are the owners of a dog which bit the plaintiff on August 7. The complaint states that the plaintiff was "knocked down, bruised and bitten".

In an answer filed today by E. E. Gray, local attorney, on behalf of the Ceraldis, it is alleged that their dog is kind and affectionate, a household pet, and although a "Belgian Shepherd", sometimes mistakenly called a "police dog", yet that he had never before bitten anyone or showed any vicious qualities. The answer also states that the plaintiff had no business on the Ceraldi premises at the time, that he was merely wandering about aimlessly, and that if the dog did actually bite him he was only doing his duty in the absence of the family.

The question again arises in this case, whether or not as a matter of law a dog is entitled to a "first bite", which is said to mean that an owner is not responsible even if his dog does bite someone, if the dog was not naturally vicious and had not bitten anyone before.

Mite Boxes Opened at Missionary Tea in Church Parlor

Planned as a time for opening of the Foreign Missionary mite boxes, a missionary tea was held Tuesday afternoon in the Methodist church parlors, beginning at 2:30.

Mrs. A. H. Stull, president of the Methodist Woman's Foreign Missionary society, presided, opening the program.

An inspiring devotional service, based on the Scriptural promise: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength," was conducted by Mrs. Frank C. Buffington. Mrs. Lewis Jenison sang "In the Secret of His Presence," Mrs. Buffington accompanying.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. W. H. Froelich, mite box chairman, who presided during the remainder of the program.

Presented by Mrs. John Engle, Miss Anna Eyster, recently returned to Upland after spending eight years at a Brethren in Christ mission station in Rhodesia, South Africa, gave a particularly interesting description of life in Africa. She told of the work of the mission and explained many of the customs of the natives, including the marriage feast ceremonies.

Mrs. H. A. McPheeters, accompanied by Mrs. Austin Salisbury, sang two beautiful songs.

Mrs. Froelich conducted the opening of the mite boxes and made a short talk concerning the use of the money thus raised, the sum this time amounting to $7.30.

At the conclusion of the program a tea hour was enjoyed. The tea table was attractively decorated with garden flowers.

McPheeters Families Enjoy Motor Trip Into Arizona

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McPheeters, who recently moved from Upland to their new home on Hawthorne drive, Ontario, and their daughters, Bonnie and Beth, returned Monday from a motor trailer tour of scenic places in Arizona and Utah.

Accompanying the Ontario family were Mr. McPheeters' brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. George McPheeters and children and Mr. and Mrs. Walter McPheeters, all of Long Beach. Each family had a well equipped trailer. Traveling this way the motorists were independent of time and place, being able to camp wherever they desired to.

Going by way of Indio and Blythe, traveling the desert section at night, they stopped at Prescott and Jerome, Ariz., and visited with friends on a ranch near the heavily forested plateau. Later they camped at Mary's lake, near Flagstaff, and went from there to the Grand Canyon, driving around the east rim, and continuing into Utah, where they visited Bryce canyon and Zion National park.

From those parks they returned directly home, having been away for a week.

UPLANDERS VIEW THREAT TO NATION

Possibility of U. S. Being Drawn Into European Conflict Cited

like a fellow said on the radio the other day—'this idea of fighting to save Democracy is all hooey.'"

Harold Salisbury, prominent junior college graduate, said: "Not if they depend on fellows like me to volunteer, this country won't get into war."

Asked if that was the general attitude of other young men with whom he was intimately acquainted, Mr. Salisbury said "Yes."

Harold Eshelman, while explaining that he was patriotic and would quickly respond in case this nation was in danger, expressed the belief that a war in Europe was not America's concern and that people should remain calm, be prepared to counteract the "war propaganda" and that young men should take a firm stand against fighting on foreign soil.

MAY HAVE TO FIGHT

Thomas E. Howarton said: "If we see the Democracies are getting the worst of it—there's only one thing we can do and that is to fight. If Hitler gets the best of them (Democracies) you know we will be next and so the only thing to do is for us to help out if we see our help is needed."

Mr. Howarton is a World war veteran and has been active in American Legion circles.

James E. Goodban pointed out that the nations of the world are closer together now than in 1914 and when war comes in one part, the rest of the world is very definitely affected. For that reason and other reasons, America may find it necessary to "defend itself from the aggressions of Germany."

MAY FORCE ISSUE

Mrs. Mark H. Bailey marvels that the billions of people on earth permit one man to keep the nerves of the entire world frayed, endangering and perhaps sacrificing the lives of countless thousands of people. "I believe the real issue is between dictatorship and democracy," she said, adding: "If they continue the war very long I fear we will be drawn in. Propagandists will leave nothing undone to force us in."

Mrs. R. M. Hobbs thinks the conditions in Europe are "terrible" and believes a well placed bomb when Hitler and his war lords are in conference would be the easiest way to stop his madness. "I am afraid there is not much chance for us to stay out of the war if they fight very long," she said. "But I do not think this country should fight to protect anyone's property in foreign lands. Lives are worth vastly more than property any day. Let Americans come home if they want protection."

Van Hoy Fans 12 in Upland Victory Over CYO Nine in League

Luther Van Hoy is making quite a record as twirler in the junior ball league. He is pitcher for the Upland Merchants team and in a game this week with the C. Y. O. he struck out 12 batters and allowed only four hits. The Upland team won, 11 to 8.

An interesting feature of the game was Keith Smith's batting, he getting a double to open an inning and came up later in the same inning with a home run. The bases were loaded when he connected for the four-bagger.

Even Temperatures Mark Local Climate

Temperatures in Upland prove that it possesses the splendid advantage of having both a fine summer and winter climate.

Thermometer readings are recorded twice daily at the Santa Fe station, elevation about 1,000 feet. For a five-year period beginning July 1, 1934, the average temperature at 7 a. m. was 56 degrees; at 2 p. m., 77 degrees. Lowest temperature recorded at 7 a. m. during that time was 26 degrees, while the maximum was 114 degrees. Freezing weather is rarely recorded. During the summer, only a few days exceed the 100 degree mark.

Less Than Half of Jaysee Students Come From Chaffey

Slightly less than half of the students enrolled in Chaffey junior college are graduates of Chaffey high school.

Remaining students enter from neighboring high schools, from other counties in the state, from various parts of the United States, and in a few instances from foreign countries. It is the policy of the board of trustees to admit only a limited number from other states or from foreign countries.

Rainfall Average Is 21.89 Inches

Rainfall in Upland occurs during the winter months, and for the past 40 years the average precipitation has been 21.89 inches.

Heaviest rains usually fall in December, January and February. Record rainfall for one season totaled 40.36, in 1916 Dryest year was in 1899, when only 3.15 inches fell.

BEULAH COLLEGE OPENS SEPT. 11

Out-of-State Students are Returning for Work at Local School

Beulah college will open for fall term on Monday, Sept. 11. A faculty meeting is scheduled for the opening day and registration will follow on Tuesday. Classes start on Wednesday, following the opening chapel at 9:30 a. m.

Although it is difficult to anticipate registration at this time, inquiries have been received from many different states, and expectations are that number of students enrolled will equal or exceed that of last year, when 95 students were registered in the academy and junior college departments.

Out-of-state students will probably come from Illinois, Oklahoma, Kansas and Pennsylvania. This includes students of former years and also new students.

Officers of administration for the coming year are: The Rev. Arthur Climenhaga, acting president and religious director; Paul E. Engle, vice-president; Miss Alma B. Cassel, dean and registrar; the Rev. Alvin C. Burkholder, college pastor; Benjamin Lenhert, business manager; Miss Helen W. Gish, dean of women; Raymond Niesley, dean of men; and Mrs. Lewis Sider, librarian.

Henry G. Brubaker, president, is on leave of absence from the presidency only, for graduate study. New member of the faculty is Miss Miriam Bowers, who succeeds Miss Ruth Bowers as Latin instructor. Miss Ruth Bowers is to do mission work in San Francisco the coming year.

A check of the graduates of the academy reveals that most of them will return to do advanced work at the school the coming year.

Those who will return are the Misses Alma and Rachel Gramm, Wayne Book, Ethan Engle (second semester), Willis Trautwein, David Musser and Frances Logan.

Barbara Oaks plans to attend school near San Francisco. Clyde Zook may return to Upland, but will not enroll in school this year, according to present plans.

Graduates from the junior college who may come back for further work are Misses Emma Rosenberger and Arlene Climenhaga.

A large percentage of Beulah college students are employed by local families during the school year. Many applications of persons seeking student help are now on file at the office, Mr. Lenhert, business manager states.

WORK PROJECT FOR PARK IMPROVEMENT IS BEING PREPARED

SRA Director Tells of Plan to Provide Labor at Cost Of 10c Hour

Officials of the San Bernardino office of the State Relief administration are ready and willing to place men on improvement projects at a cost to the sponsor of one-fifth of the wages, William Fitzer, county SRA director, said yesterday.

"For example," he explained, "if the wages paid are 50 cents an hour the SRA will pay 40 cents and the sponsor will pay 10 cents."

Mr. Fitzer said he was preparing a proposed project for Upland and that he expects to confer with the Upland city council at its next meeting. The proposed project concerns the development of the city's park site east of San Antonio Community hospital. The official has conferred with Richard G. Manley, city manager, relative to the project.

On his own initiative, however, Mr. Fitzer is preparing the proposed work schedule for clearing land and getting the park site ready for setting out of trees.

LIABILITIES DISCUSSED

Consideration has been given by the councilmen previously to sponsoring an SRA project. The question of who would be responsible in case of accident — the sponsor or the SRA — had not previously been settled and for that reason the councilmen have delayed decision on the matter.

Mr. Fitzer, in discussing the proposal in his San Bernardino office, said that a new ruling from the SRA relieved the sponsoring agency of any responsibility in case a laborer was injured while on the project.

On the SRA rolls are men and women who have been recently dropped from the WPA and other persons who for various reasons have been unable to get on the WPA rolls. All persons on the SRA are given a "monthly budget" sum as direct dole without being employed on any project.

WANT PROJECTS

Desirous of providing projects on which SRA persons can work, Mr. Fitzer said he planned to outline his plan to the Upland councilmen.

I believe that 10 cents an hour for labor on worth while improvements is very inexpensive for a sponsor and that Upland and other cities should seek to benefit by the program," Mr. Fitzer declared.

EYE OPENERS---by Bob Crosby

Some 5,000,000 American housewives who enjoy the accuracy of modern heat controlled, gas range ovens can thank B. E. Meacham of the American Stove Company. As a farm boy, he witnessed his Mother's dismay when she burned the bread she was baking for 16 farm hands and a family of 7. Promising himself to do something to prevent such domestic "tragedies," he later invented the first automatic oven temperature regulator.

Their friendship for each other strained, Sir Arthur Sullivan at first rejected Gilbert's idea for "The Mikado." Gilbert offered to retire from the partnership—Sullivan refused to hear of it, and set to composing the music at once. In the New York Tribune of August 1, 1885, Gilbert told how a Japanese sword was his inspiration for the partnership's greatest triumph.

MANY GOOD BOOKS READY AT LIBRARY

Quota for September Includes Unusually Fine List Of New Books

All sorts of sport books are in the Upland library's September book list—books on wrestling, lawn tennis, swimming, golf, boxing and physical fitness—books of travel are also included, some new biographies, novels of the west, of mystery, romantic, etc. And if one likes them short, there are the "Fifty Best American Short Stories of 1915-1939"—"We Are Ten" and "The Man Who Understood Women," the last one named not a new book, but new to the library.

"Simplified Household Mechanics," by Frederick Collins, tells about those things around the house that everyone takes for granted, the commonplace things like water hydrants, electrical devices and mechanical devices and, what is more important, instructs one in servicing these same devices. Very often, if one knows how, he can service the unit without trouble, delay, or cost. If specialized ability is necessary to be called in, the householder may know how long it should take to do the job and know approximately how much it should cost.

The September books will be displayed at the library Friday to Tuesday, and will go into circulation next Tuesday.

Efforts Made To Bring Cavalcade Of West to L. A.

Efforts are being made to bring the "Cavalcade of the West" from the San Francisco exposition to the Los Angeles coliseum next year, Hugh Metier of the Union Oil Co. said during an illustrated address at the Upland Lions club meeting yesterday noon.

Colored moving pictures of many fair features were shown by Mr. Metier. In his very entertaining and informal manner of speaking, he told of many attractions and described the "Cavalcade of the West" as the outstanding attraction.

Various interests are seeking to have the historical presentation given in Los Angeles for the entertainment and education of the general public.

Jack Keiffer was program chairman, with Dr. Earl L. Wenger, president, presiding. A. H. Wenger was a guest at the meeting.

7000 Head of Stock Coming to Fair for National Contest

Reaching its climax with the annual million dollar parade of the champions the 18th annual livestock show and western congress of breeders held in conjunction with Los Angeles County fair in Pomona, Sept. 15 to Oct. 1, will bring 700 head of large and small stock to the premier fall exhibition of the west.

Here the blue blooded aristocrats of the country will assemble in a battle for the blue ribbons. Perhaps never before have there been so many out-of-state entries in every department.

TREAT IS GIVEN LIBRARY READERS

Second Addition to Books in Upland Library To Be Made This Month

For a special offering, in response to requests from borrowers, the library presents a variety of titles designed to add books of interest for all readers.

"Across the Frontiers," by Sir Philip Gibbs, comprises a survey, informed and uncompromising, of the kaleidoscopic European scene by one of the most brilliant journalists currently covering recent events. Coming as it does in a time of crucial unrest, it focuses attention on events leading up to this time of crisis, criticising in no uncertain terms British foreign policy since the war—with the resultant rude awakening of that nation to the enormous dangers now confronting the whole empire.

In "The Law and Mr. Smith," by Max Radin, there emerges a book which does for the law what H. G. Wells did for history in the "Outline of History" and what Will Durant in the "Outline of Philosophy" did for philosophy. Not in the tone of a lecture, but with good-natured sincerity, Mr. Radin answers for "Mr. Smith" many puzzling questions. "Reading his book," says one critic, "gives you the feel of a cooling breeze on a fevered face."

In the realm of psychology, the provocative title "Tricks Our Minds Play On Us," by Karl R. Stolz, takes the plain man through the common mental quirks which sometimes make him miserable without driving him all the way into a padded cell. The author herewith extends a helping hand by clarifying the art of mental hygiene, and goes far toward succeeding in overcoming those troublesome neurotic tendencies.

"Cannibal Caravan" by Charles (Cannibal) Miller, is a savage, fantastic, but true story of the Stone Age flourishing in twentieth century Dutch New Guinea. Born in Java, raised in New Guinea, son of a soldier, young Miller knew countless adventures before serving the British Empire as an ace in the World war. Consequently, testing airplanes, racing automobiles, photographing movies all seemed tame and trivial measured against life in the jungle. The book is the result of true experiences.

Following are the books added:

Anderson—Star-wagon
Davis—Nebraska Coast
Gibbs—Across the Frontiers
Meyer—"Rheumatism"
Miller—Cannibal Caravan
Radin—Law and Mr. Smith
Stolz—Tricks Our Minds Play On Us

Petition Against Oil Control Act Filed by Andreas

A petition was placed on file Monday with County Clerk Harry L. Allison, calling for a referendum against the oil and gas control act. The petition carries the signatures of 3,280 San Bernardino residents.

The control act, against which the referendum is directed, sets up a commission to prorate the production of oil and natural gas in California. It also defines legal and illegal oil products.

John Andreas of Upland filed the petition, which was circulated under the auspices of the Independent Petroleum and Consumers' association, of which J. A. Smith is president.

Signatures are being checked by Walter V. Combs of Upland, deputy county clerk. Mr. Combs says that if the referendum proposition qualifies, it probably will appear on the ballot of the November, 1940, general election.

FIREMEN WILL USE NEW CLUB HOUSE FOR ANNUAL PARTY

East Sixteenth Street Structure Converted Into Social Hall

Upland firemen have a home of their own today—again.

It will be officially occupied by this city's group of volunteer firefighters over the week end when the men enjoy their annual Labor day party.

The disastrous flood of 1938 wiped away their unique cabin in San Antonio canyon—and so unusually wide interest is being centered by the firemen on their new home.

Located on Sixteenth street about two miles east of Euclid evenue, is a dwelling that has been leased and renovated. For weeks, firemen have supervised the refinishing of the structure, built years ago. Occupying a secluded spot, surrounded by acres and acres of rock-covered land, the building is shaded by evergreen trees that add color and life to an otherwise undeveloped area.

Through the years, a common bond of fellowship has been developed among the volunteer firemen through monthly social get-togethers and the annual Labor day parties. And so, the new headquarters will play an important role in the lives of the men who are always in readiness to guard the city against flames.

The structure, which has been leased from the San Antonio Water Co., includes many facilities, such as a large living room, now termed the "recreation" room, a large dining room and—very important—a large kitchen and auxiliary kitchen. Outside has been built a brick fireplace.

All the work of refinishing and furnishing the structure is being financed by the department members themselves. The department receives a sum every month from the city as remuneration for providing fire protection.

Since March, 1938, the firemen have been without a meeting place. Consideration was given to the possibility of erecting a building, but the plan of leasing the Sixteenth street building, however, was accepted as the most feasible.

And so, everything is in readiness for the firemen to occupy their new social headquarters over the week end. Telephone communication will keep the firemen in touch with the city in case of a fire alarm.

Derby Cars Being Built for Spirited Race On Sept. 23

JACK DETMERS IS AIDING YOUTHS IN BUILDING ENTRIES

Fourteen Upland boys, age 10 to 16 years, do not find vacation days dragging.

The reason is that they are spending their time making and perfecting soap box racers to enter in the Upland race on September 23, sponsored by the Upland Lions club.

the same as for the race of a month ago in Los Angeles, except that the length of the car is restricted to 72 inches instead of 80, as in Los Angeles. Cars cannot cost over $10, so much time must be spent to manufacture a racer on that limited amount of cash.

Jack Detmers might be said to be the dean of Upland soap box derby racers because he came out seventh in the big Los Angeles event. As a matter of fact his time was only six-tenths of a second under that of the winner when he competed with the winner in the preliminary race before the finals.

So Jack, a 15-year-old ninth grader at Upland junior high school, is highly respected among the soap box derby fraternity.

A favorite hang-out for all derby enthusiasts is the Detmers home at 744 North First avenue. "Dark Victory", the fast rolling racer which Jack rode in the Los Angeles event, sits on the front porch of the Detmers' home.

Although Jack, like all others entering the race, hopes he will win, he encourages all the aspirants who come to his home. Making of models of all kinds is more than a hobby for Jack. It is almost an obsession. Fitting and gluing together intricate pieces of balsa wood, and then covering the sticks with paper or muslin, and treating with innumerable coats of "airplane dope", is Jack's idea of a rip-roaring good time.

A model airplane, which operates with a gas engine, is one of Jack's latest accomplishments. The plane has never been flown. Each time it was entered in a race, some small maladjustment interfered. But next time, it will surely get away, Jack feels.

A very small model plane is now occupying Jack's time. Engine for this plane is so small that it can fit in the palm of the hand, yet it cost $35. That is why Jack hopes so much he will win on Sept. 23.

All of the seven members of the Detmers family share in the accomplishments of each other, and Jack's model-building is the chief source of conversation these days. Mrs. Detmers takes great pride in the model building.

"Our home looks more like an airplane factory than a house," she commented, pointing to a half-finished plane on top of the piano, and to the completed one on the living room floor.

"But I think it is fine for boys to have such an interest. I'd much rather have my home look like a factory than have a problem child on my hands," she wisely reasons.

Jack hopes to take up airplane designing as a profession. Of course that means a college education and lots of work, but he is willing to undertake it.

All fourteen boys are building streamlined soap box cars. Each one has his own pet design. "Dark Victory" is built around a wooden frame, stuffed with a plastic substance made of sawdust and flour paste.

There's Plenty of Hair Oil; Police Are Holding "Bail"

Want some hair oil, hand lotion, after-shave cream and other allied merchandise?

Just say so—and the Upland police department members will eagerly (?) serve you. They have plenty of it.

The material is "bail" left by two house-to-house salesmen after they were arrested for selling without a busness license. The salesmen haven't returned to settle their account with the judge. What's going to happen to it if they don't return has not been determined.

Nine Performances Of Mission Play To Revive Epic Story

Persons interested in John Steven McGroarty's Mission play will be pleased to learn that on Sept. 25 the first of nine performances will be presented in an effort to revive the production. The presentations will be made in the Pasadena civic auditorium.

Telling the epic life-story of Fray Junipero Serra and the rise and fall of California's historic chain of missions, the Mission Play set a record of 3,169 performances over a period of 20 years beginning in 1912. Special music, colorful dance sequences, stark tragedy and high comedy highlight a suspense-packed plot.

The leading role of Father Serra again will be played, as it has for nine years in the past, by R. D. MacLean, the veteran and eminent Shakespearean actor.

Cucamonga-Alta Loma

SERVICE CLUB MEETS

Business men attending the regular dinner meeting of the Cucamonga Service club held in the Old Cucamonga cafe Monday evening, turned their attention entirely to the plans and preparations being made for the Cucamonga grape festival, Sept. 9 and 10.

George M. Mahan, club president, conducted the routine business and, as general chairman of the festival, presented a resume of the committee's activities, telling what work already has been done and explaining plans for other preparations and arrangements.

The club members were called upon to express their opinions and offer suggestions and all responding expressed hearty approval of all steps taken by the committee.

San Berdoo Team Needs One Game To Reach Finals

Walking Lloyd Leest, San Bernardino General Tiremen's heavy hitter, to load the bases and "get" Lefty Watson, who had not hit all evening, proved the undoing of the Huntington Beach Oilers in the fourth game of the four-out-of-seven series, in a game at Perris Hill park last night. It had been a lovely pitchers' battle until the tenth, with the veteran Venn Botts for the beach team, engaging Bud Mayer of San Berdoo. Going into the last of the tenth with the score tied at 2 and 2, Botts weakened and walked the first man up. The next man faked a bunt on the first ball and they hit sharply over the first baseman's head for two bases. Then came the intentional walk to Leest, filling the bags. The first two pitches to Watson were balls, and Botts was jerked for Fuzzy Errington. The latter proved wild and handed Watson two more balls to force a run across the plate and win the game for San Berdoo, 3-2. This gives the Tiremen a 3 to 1 lead in the series, with one more win needed to cinch a play-off with the winner of the Long Beach-Orange play-off series.

Seay Knocks Out Foe in Ring Debut; Hays Is Coming Up

One of the new fellows in the mitt game who will be watched with much interest is Kelly Seay, Uplander, who won the first bout of his fistic career in the Ontario American Legion arena Wednesday night.

He knocked out Tommy Brown, Los Angeles, in the third round. His performance was such that Seay will appear in the four-round division in next week's matches.

Lyle Hays, another Uplander, will be in the ring next week. He will pitt his strength and boxing ability in a three-round match.

Both Hays and Seay are Chaffey junior college athletes and a following of fans will keep close tab on how the boxers fare.

PANTHERS REPORT ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Jaysee Gridders Will Begin Practice for Heavy Schedule

For Chaffey junior college football aspirants, school will start next Tuesday.

With the biggest group of gridiron candidates he has ever had, Coach Bert Heiser will begin training at 7:30 p. m. Seventeen lettermen are expected to answer the first call and there will be plenty of other huskies to make competition really keen for the Panther eleven.

Johnny Meek will report for his second season as assistant coach to Heiser and Jack White will also be on hand to help build the front line.

About the only tough hole to be filled is that left by Les Terry, all conference halfback. Kobe Shoji, fleet, shifty runner, can do a pretty good job of filling Terry's spot.

Of the nine games in which the Panthers will fight for honor, seven games will be on the Chaffey field. Ventura junior college will open the schedule with a practice game Sept. 22 and Santa Monica will be here the following week.

League play will start with Pomona on the Chaffey field Oct. 20.

Etiwanda Dog Owner Recovers Great Danes

The two Great Dane dogs that were kept in the Upland city jail Tuesday were claimed late that night by J. R. Van Valen, Etiwanda poultry rancher. The dogs apparently wandered away from their home and became lost.

Upland police were advised and the dogs were picked up in the business district Tuesday morning.
